Opening Prayer & Welcome

Begin with prayer, thanking God for the message of the cross that still speaks today. Ask Him to help us grasp the depth of His love—love that reached us at our worst, love that didn't wait for us to improve, love that sent Jesus to die in our place. Pray that we would respond with faith, repentance, and baptism, and that we would extend the same unconditional love to others that God has shown us.

Introduction: Love That Speaks

Key Definition: The message of the cross speaks not in words, but in witness. It reveals the depth of God's love, the seriousness of our sin, and the certainty of our salvation.

Scripture Foundation: "For while we were still helpless, at the right time Christ died for the ungodly... But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." - Romans 5:6, 8

The Story of the Text Messages

A young lady lost her father. In deep depression and pain, she found his old cell phone, charged it up, and started texting him. She told him how much she loved and missed him. She shared her struggles, her heartaches, the cares of life. For several years, she poured out her heart to that phone number.

Then one day, she got a reply.

Not from her father, but from the man who now owned that phone number. He wrote: "Thank you, Chelsea, for saving my life. You kept me alive because my own daughter was lost tragically in a car accident. Thank you for giving me hope. Thank you for a message of love—because love still speaks."

That's the message of the cross. God gave His Son to a people who took something precious from Him. Yet God looks at the cross, looks at sinful humanity, and says: "I love you. I forgive you. And I'm not done with you yet."

Questions:

1. How does this story help you understand the power of the cross's message?
2. When have you experienced a moment when you felt God was saying, "I'm not done with you yet"?
3. Why is it important that the cross speaks through witness (action) rather than just words?

The Big Idea

The message of the cross is that while we were unworthy—helpless, ungodly, sinners, and enemies—Christ died to make us acceptable to God. The cross speaks not in words but in witness, revealing the depth of God's love, the seriousness of our sin, and the certainty of our salvation.

This is the invitation: When you doubt God's love, don't look at your circumstances—look at the cross. That's where God sends His message.

Reality #1: The Cross Declares God's Love Despite Our Condition

Key Scripture: Romans 5:6-8

"For while we were still helpless, at the right time Christ died for the ungodly. For one will hardly die for a righteous man; though perhaps for the good man someone would dare even to die. But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us."

Main Points:

- We were helpless (without strength, powerless, paralyzed by sin)
- We were ungodly (without God, living as if God doesn't exist)
- Christ died "at the right time"—God's appointed time, not when we deserved it
- The word "for" (huper) means substitution—He died instead of us
- God's love is demonstrated (proven beyond doubt) at the cross

Key Teaching:

"While we were still helpless, at the right time, Christ died for the ungodly. Look at your helpless condition. While you were still weak, it literally means while you were powerless. You had no strength. You were weak, and the weakness and the powerlessness came from you being ungodly."

"At the right time, at due time, on God's time, Jesus was sent to die for us. Now who's 'us'? The ungodly. You and me—we all are ungodly. If you'd be out there telling the truth and somebody asks you what your real name is: 'Ungodly.' The reality is, you will never appreciate Jesus dying for you at the right time. He didn't die for you when you were right. He didn't die when you were put together well. He died at your worst."

Our Four-Fold Condition:

1. Helpless (Verse 6):

- Greek: asthenes - without strength, powerless, paralyzed
- We had no ability to save ourselves
- Our spiritual condition rendered us incapable

2. Ungodly (Verse 6):

- Greek: asebes - without reverence for God, living as if God doesn't exist
- This is the root cause of our helplessness
- Weakness is a byproduct of ungodliness

3. Sinners (Verse 8):

- Greek: hamartoloi - those who miss the mark
- We continuously fall short of God's righteousness
- No matter how hard we try, we can't hit the target

4. Enemies (Verse 10):

- Greek: echthroi - hostile, at war with God
- We weren't just neutral; we were actively fighting against God
- We shunned Him, rejected Him, rebelled against Him

God Didn't Wait for Us to Improve:

"God didn't wait for us to improve. He moved while we were incapable of saving ourselves. That's the message from the cross to someone in here right now struggling with sin, struggling with your hang-ups. You think you're not good enough, you don't think God loves you. Let me tell you: He didn't wait and He's not waiting on you to improve. He moved while you were incapable of saving yourself."

The Right Time:

"At the right time" doesn't mean when we were ready—it means God's appointed time. In the fullness of time, when the world was at its darkest, when humanity had proven it couldn't save itself, God sent His Son.

Discussion Questions:

1. Which of the four conditions (helpless, ungodly, sinner, enemy) resonates most with your experience before Christ?
2. What does it mean that God's love is "proactive" rather than "reactive"?
3. How does knowing God moved while you were incapable change your view of grace?
4. Why is "the right time" significant—what does it reveal about God's plan?

Truth Bomb:

"God didn't have to say, 'Oh my goodness, Fred sinned—what am I going to do now?' No. God said, 'I already know Fred's gonna cut up. I already know Fred's not going to do right. So what will I do? I already have a plan before I even give birth to Fred—Jesus will die for the sins of Fred.'"

Application:

Stop waiting to "get right" before you come to God. He already knows everything about you, and He's already made provision through Jesus. Come as you are—helpless, struggling, broken—and let Him save you.

Reality #2: God's Love is Unconditional, Not Transactional

Key Scripture: Romans 5:7-8

"For one will hardly die for a righteous man; though perhaps for the good man someone would dare even to die. But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us."

Main Points:

- Paul moves from the lesser to the greater ("much more")
- Human love has conditions—it's selective and transactional
- God's love is unconditional—it's sacrificial and covenantal
- No one would die for a righteous person (law-keeper)
- Maybe someone would dare to die for a good person (genuinely kind)
- But God proved His love by dying for sinners—those who least deserve it

Key Teaching:

"Human to human love has conditions. Human to human love says, 'I love you when I feel like it.' Human to human says, 'You do for me, I do for you.' Human to human says, 'As long as we get along right now, we're cool.' Human love has conditions. But God's love is unconditional. The reason you know it's unconditional is because at the right time, He died for ungodly people."

"God's love is sacrificial. The cross proves love's highest standard—that is, dying for those who least deserve it. That's real love. And even in marriage, you got to love when the person isn't deserving of it. You got to love sometimes when you ain't loved back. That's covenant love."

The Argument from Lesser to Greater:

Paul presents a logical progression:

1. Hardly anyone would die for a righteous person (someone who keeps the rules)
2. Maybe someone would dare to die for a good person (someone genuinely kind)
3. But God demonstrated His love by dying for sinners (those who deserve death)

This shows the radical, shocking nature of God's love. It's not based on our merit, our performance, or our worthiness. It's based entirely on His character.

Human Love vs. Divine Love:

Human Love:

- Conditional: "I'll love you if..."
- Transactional: "I'll do for you if you do for me"
- Selective: "I'll love you as long as..."
- Performance-based: "You earn my love"

Divine Love:

- Unconditional: "I love you in spite of..."
- Covenantal: "I love you whether you love me back or not"
- Universal: "I love the ungodly, the hostile, the broken"
- Grace-based: "You can't earn my love; I give it freely"

Covenant vs. Contract:

"When you look at your relationship with Christ, you are not in a contract with Him. You're in a covenant. A contract says, 'Do for me, I do for you. And if you don't do your part, I ain't gonna do mine.' That's how some of us handle our marriages. But a covenant says, 'I'm going to love you without cause. Even when you don't deserve it, I'll love you. Even when you don't love me back, I'll love you.'"

This Applies to Christian Relationships:

"You cannot be a true child of God and not love your neighbor the same way God loves you. You cannot say, 'I am a Christian, I'm saved by the blood of Christ,' and then walk out of here hating on your fellow brothers. That's not Christian love."

Discussion Questions:

1. How does human love differ from God's love in your experience?
2. Why is covenant love (unconditional) harder to practice than contract love (transactional)?
3. In what relationships are you loving with conditions rather than covenant?
4. How should understanding God's unconditional love change the way you love others?

Truth Bomb:

"The reason you know God's love is unconditional is because you aren't deserving of it. That's how you know. You never thank God every day that when He looks at you, He doesn't look at you—He looks at His Son. The only righteousness God sees in us is the righteousness of His Son."

Application:

Examine your relationships. Are you loving with conditions or covenant? Are you extending grace only when others "deserve" it? God calls you to love the way He loves—unconditionally, sacrificially, without strings attached.

Reality #3: Christ Died as Our Substitute

Key Scripture: Romans 5:8

"But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us."

Main Points:

- The word "for" (huper) means substitution—in place of, instead of
- Jesus died the death we deserved
- It should have been us on the cross
- Substitutionary atonement: He became what we deserved so we could receive what we don't deserve
- This is the holy compassion of God

Key Teaching:

"Christ died for the ungodly. He emphasizes 'for'—substitution. The word 'for' is the Greek word huper, which means substitution. Jesus died instead of humanity. He died in place of you. In other words, it should have been you that should have been on the cross. It should have been us that should have taken the beating. But He said Jesus was sent to die in our place."

"When you've got those plates, put your name there, and you'll see the power in this cross and the message of this cross. At the moment we were sinners, at the pointed time we were ugly in our lives, when we wouldn't listen to God, when we turned our back on God, when we said, 'God, I don't need You right now. I got it. I can work this out. I'm strong enough by myself,' He said, 'No, let Me send Jesus to save you from yourself.'"

Understanding Substitution:

Substitutionary atonement means Jesus took your place. Imagine you're sentenced to death for your crimes. You're on death row awaiting execution. Then someone steps forward and says, "I'll take his place. Execute me instead." That's what Jesus did at the cross.

He became what we are (sinful, cursed) so we could become what He is (righteous, blessed).

- We deserved death; He gave us life
- We earned wrath; He gave us grace
- We were guilty; He made us innocent
- We were cursed; He became cursed for us

God Saved You From Yourself:

"Anybody can testify that there was a time you were on a dark road, you were headed into some places you couldn't see—you thought you could. As a matter of fact, God stepped in at the moment you were getting ready to lose your mind, lose your life, lose your family, lose everything. He stepped in and said, 'Let Me pull you back and save you from you.'"

This is powerful: God doesn't just save us from external circumstances. He saves us from ourselves—from our own sinful choices, destructive patterns, and self-sabotaging behaviors.

Don't Trust in Yourself:

"Don't trust in yourself. Self will tell you to do a whole lot of things. Self will cause you to believe a lot of things. Self will have you talking to yourself. So you don't trust in you, you don't trust in self. You don't trust in your own strength to keep you right with God. You trust in the power of the cross, and that is through Jesus Christ and Him alone."

Discussion Questions:

1. What does it mean practically that Jesus died "instead of" you?
2. How does understanding substitution change your view of the cross?
3. In what ways has God "saved you from yourself"?
4. Why is it dangerous to trust in your own strength or goodness to save you?

Truth Bomb:

"You may not do what the next man did. You may not have lived like the next man. That's not what saves you. What saved you is your faith in a perfect Savior. Goodness is not what saves you—Jesus is. So you may not do what the next man does, but that doesn't make you righteous. What makes you righteous is Jesus."

Application:

Stop trying to prove your worth or earn your salvation. Accept that Jesus died in your place—He took what you deserved so you could receive what He deserves. Trust Him alone, not your performance.

Reality #4: The Cross Delivers Us From Wrath and Reconciles Us to God

Key Scripture: Romans 5:9-11

"Much more then, having now been justified by His blood, we shall be saved from the wrath of God through Him. For if while we were enemies we were reconciled to God through the death of His Son, much more, having been reconciled, we shall be saved by His life. And not only this, but we also exult in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received the reconciliation."

Main Points:

- "Much more" intensifies Paul's argument—moving from lesser to greater
- We are justified by His blood (legal declaration of innocence)
- We are saved from the wrath of God (rescued from judgment)
- We are reconciled to God (relationship restored, enmity removed)
- We are saved by His life (His resurrection keeps the door open)
- We now have access to God and peace with God

Key Teaching:

"Much more then, having now been justified by His blood, we shall be saved from the wrath of God through Him. Not only did God save you from sin, ungodliness, and unrighteousness, but He saved you from His wrath. If you are living a life unsaved and you're living outside of Christ, then guess what is ahead of you? The wrath of God. It's coming. That means there is no hope outside of Christ."

"For if while we were enemies we were reconciled to God through the death of His Son, much more, having been reconciled, we shall be saved by His life. God didn't just forgive us. He brought us back into fellowship with Him. That's where the peace comes in. I'm justified by faith in Christ. Now I have a peaceful relationship with God. I'm no longer God's enemy."

Three Benefits of the Cross:

1. Justification (Legal Term):

- God declares us righteous
- Our record is expunged
- The sentence is lifted
- We stand innocent before God

2. Saved From Wrath (Deliverance):

- God's wrath against sin is real and righteous
- Jesus took that wrath in our place
- We escape eternal separation from God
- We are no longer under condemnation

3. Reconciliation (Relational Term):

- We were enemies; now we're family
- The hostility is removed
- Peace replaces war
- We have access to God's presence

The Wrath of God:

"There are even a lot of scholars who don't like that word. They don't like to suggest that we are saved from the wrath of God. But can I tell you, if you are living a life unsaved and you're living a life outside of Christ, then guess what is ahead of you? The wrath of God."

God's wrath is not impulsive rage—it's His righteous response to sin. God is holy and cannot allow sin to go unpunished. If God was only a God of justice, all of us would receive the due penalty of our sin. But because He's also a God of mercy, He poured out His wrath on Jesus instead of on us.

From Enemies to Family:

Before Christ, we were enemies of God—fighting Him, rejecting Him, rebelling against Him. Enemies induce wrath. But through Jesus, the wrath is averted and peace comes in.

"The cross is the meeting place of divine holiness and divine love. The death of Christ opened the door. His resurrection keeps it open."

Reconciliation Restores Relationship:

Reconciliation is more than just removal of guilt—it's restoration of relationship. God didn't just declare us "not guilty" and send us on our way. He brought us back into fellowship with Him. We now have:

- Peace with God (no more hostility)
- Access to God (introduced into His presence)
- Relationship with God (adopted into His family)

Saved By His Life:

"Much more, having been reconciled, we shall be saved by His life." The resurrection of Jesus is essential. His death opened the door, but His resurrection keeps it open. Because He lives, we can have ongoing relationship with a living Savior.

Discussion Questions:

1. What does it mean to be saved from the wrath of God?
2. How does reconciliation differ from mere forgiveness?
3. What does it mean practically to have "access" to God?
4. Why is the resurrection essential to our ongoing salvation?

Truth Bomb:

"The cross didn't just change your status—it changed your relationship. You are not just acquitted; you're now adopted. You're in a family you didn't have before. You receive the benefits of that family you didn't have before. You didn't have access. You were locked away in the devil's domain. But now, through Christ, you're brought into God's family."

Application:

Live in the freedom of reconciliation. You're not just forgiven—you're family. You have complete, continuous access to God through Christ. Walk in that relationship daily through prayer, worship, and obedience.

Practical Application: Hear the Message and Respond

When Guilt Whispers, the Cross Shouts

"When guilt whispers to you, the cross shouts, 'You are forgiven.' When shame accuses you, the cross declares, 'You are loved.' When fear rises, the cross reminds you, 'You are secure.' The cross is not just a historical event—it's a living message. And everyone that listens hears heaven singing, 'I love you, and I paid for you. Now it's time—come on home.'"

The Message Still Speaks:

The message of the cross is not speculation—it's revelation. It's love made physical. It's God's own heart displayed publicly for all to see.

The message is simple:

- I love you (despite your condition)
- I forgive you (despite your sin)
- I'm not done with you yet (despite your failures)

Don't Look at Your Circumstances—Look at the Cross:

"When you doubt God's love, don't look at your circumstances. Look at the cross. That's where God sends His message."

Your circumstances may say you're unlovable. The cross says you're loved.
Your past may say you're unforgivable. The cross says you're forgiven.
Your present struggles may say you're hopeless. The cross says there's hope.

Stop Living in Bondage While Walking Around Free:

Bro. Hall's experience at the jail illustrated a powerful truth: there are people locked up physically who desperately need to know God loves them. But there are also people walking around physically free who are imprisoned in their minds—locked up by guilt, shame, fear, addiction, and sin.

"I'm no better than you. I'm no different than you. The only difference is I can leave out of here. I can walk with freedom. But let me suggest to you: there are a whole lot of people walking around free but imprisoned in their mind."

Four Steps to Respond:

1. Stop Trying to Explain Yourself to God:

"Stop trying to explain to God what He already knows about you. Just say, 'God, I need You. I want to be wrapped in Your love. I want to be embraced by grace.'"

2. Say Yes to Jesus:

"Say yes to Jesus. Be baptized for the forgiveness of your sins. Let God set the record straight. Let God make things right."

3. Trust God, Not Church Folk:

"Don't base your standard on what you perceive you see in another Christian. Because another Christian will fool you. That's church folk. But a Christian says, 'I'm gonna trust God. I ain't perfect. I need help. I don't get it all right. But I'm gonna keep trusting in the power of Jesus Christ that His blood will keep on cleansing me.'"

4. Extend the Same Love You've Received:

If God loved you without cause, love others without cause. If God forgave you while you were His enemy, forgive those who've wronged you. If God accepts you in your brokenness, accept others in theirs.

For the Person Struggling With Sin:

"God is still talking to you. Now it's time to tap into the message of the cross. What's the message? He loves you. Simple as that. He cares about you. He actually wants a relationship with you. You've been such a person in your life that sometimes nobody wants to have nothing to do with you. You've burned some bridges. But guess what? The cross will open the door to eternity."

For the One Who Needs to Come Home

If you've never responded to the gospel—if you've never believed, repented, and been baptized—the message of the cross is for you today.

Here's what God is saying:

- "I love you"—not because you're lovable, but because love is who I am
- "I forgive you"—not because you deserve it, but because Jesus paid for it
- "I'm not done with you yet"—I have a plan and a purpose for your life

Here's what you need to do:

1. Believe that Jesus is the Son of God who died for your sins
2. Repent—turn away from sin and turn toward God
3. Be baptized for the forgiveness of your sins (Acts 2:38)
4. Receive the gift of the Holy Spirit and walk in newness of life

For the Christian Who's Struggling:

Maybe you've already been baptized, but you're struggling. You're carrying guilt. You're wondering if God still loves you. You're thinking about giving up.

The message of the cross is for you too:

God isn't done with you. His blood still cleanses. His love still reaches. His grace is still sufficient. Come back. Confess your sins. Let God restore you (1 John 1:9; 2:1-2).

Group Discussion & Reflection

Discussion Questions:

1. What stood out to you most in this message about the message of the cross?
2. Which of the four conditions (helpless, ungodly, sinner, enemy) best describes your life before Christ?
3. How does knowing God loved you "at the right time"—at your worst—change your perspective?
4. What's the difference between human love (conditional) and God's love (unconditional)?
5. How should understanding substitutionary atonement affect your daily walk with Christ?
6. What does it mean practically to be reconciled to God—not just forgiven, but brought into relationship?

Personal Reflection:

- Have you responded to the message of the cross? If not, what's holding you back?
- Are you living in the freedom of reconciliation, or are you still imprisoned by guilt, shame, or fear?
- How can you extend the same unconditional love to others that God has shown you?

Closing Prayer

Father, thank You for the message of the cross that still speaks today. Thank You that You didn't wait for us to get our act together—You moved while we were helpless, ungodly, sinners, and enemies. Thank You for loving us unconditionally, not because we're lovable but because love is who You are. Thank You that Jesus died in our place, taking what we deserved so we could receive what we don't deserve. Thank You for saving us from Your wrath and reconciling us to Yourself. Help us to hear Your message clearly: "I love you, I forgive you, and I'm not done with you yet." Give us courage to respond with faith, repentance, and baptism. And help us to extend the same covenant love to others that You've shown us. In Jesus' name, Amen.
