Opening Prayer & Welcome

Begin with prayer, thanking God that He is both just and merciful. Ask Him to help us understand the magnitude of what happened at the cross—where divine justice was satisfied and divine mercy was extended. Pray that we would not take the plea deal lightly, but would respond with faith, repentance, and baptism, accepting Jesus as our legal representation before a holy God.

Introduction: Sworn Into God's Courtroom

Key Definition: The justice of the cross is where God's righteousness and mercy collide, allowing Him to remain holy while declaring unholy people righteous through faith in Jesus Christ.

Scripture Foundation: "Being justified as a gift by His grace through the redemption which is in Christ Jesus, whom God displayed publicly as a propitiation in His blood through faith. This was to demonstrate His righteousness, because in the forbearance of God He passed over the sins previously committed." - Romans 3:24-25

The Courtroom Analogy

Imagine walking into a courtroom. You've been sworn in, awaiting your trial. The angels of heaven take their seats as witnesses. The lawyers take their places. Then the judge walks in—and it's God Himself. He sits down, hits His gavel, and begins reading your charges. Every sin, every word, every motive—He knows it all.

Then He asks: "How do you plead?"

If you're honest, you'd plead guilty. Every single person entering this courtroom is guilty. Some might try to argue: "Your Honor, these are trumped-up charges." Others might say, "I'll represent myself." But the reality is, we all stand guilty before a God who knows us inside and out—where we've been, what we've done, who we did it with, and why.

The Question: How will you plead to a God who knows everything? And do you have proper legal representation?

Questions:

1. What would be on your list of charges if God read them aloud today?
2. How does it feel to know that God knows not just your actions but your motives?
3. Why do some people try to defend themselves or compare their sins to others when standing before God?

The Big Idea

The cross of Christ is where God's justice and mercy meet head-on. God remains just (holy and righteous), yet becomes the justifier (declaring guilty people innocent) through Jesus Christ. At the cross, what God demands of the sinner, He supplies through the Savior.

This is the plea deal: Accept Jesus as your legal representation through faith expressed in baptism, and God will expunge your record, declare you innocent, and bring you into right relationship with Himself.

Reality #1: The Law Reveals We Are All Guilty

Key Scripture: Romans 3:9-20, 23

"What then? Are we better than they? Not at all; for we have already charged that both Jews and Greeks are all under sin; as it is written, 'There is none righteous, not even one... for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God.'"

Main Points:

- Paul establishes universal guilt—both Jews and Gentiles have sinned
- The law was designed to reveal sin, not to remove it
- The law demands sinless perfection—which no one can keep
- The law condemns at the first infraction
- The law cannot justify anyone
- All are continuously sinning and falling short of God's glory

Key Teaching:

"Paul is going to offer them a plea deal. He's saying if you are guilty as charged, you got sins on your record, I'm going to offer you a plea deal. The first plea deal is seen at the cross, which shows God is just because the law reveals really the truth about sin."

"Under the law, here's why you ought to thank God for the grace of God: because under the law, I had to keep it perfectly. But the law demands man's sinless perfection. Well, that scratches out about all of us. You can't keep it perfectly. Second thing about the law—it condemns at the first infraction. So if you broke one, you were in essence guilty of the whole thing."

Three Problems With the Law:

1. It demands perfection: You must keep all 613+ laws perfectly—impossible for sinful humans
2. It condemns at first infraction: Break one law, you're guilty of all
3. It cannot justify: The law reveals sin but has no power to remove it

The Reality of Sin:

When Paul says "all have sinned," the Greek tense means humanity is continuously, constantly sinning. And "fall short" is in the present tense—we are right now coming up short of God's glory. It's not just past sin; it's present reality. We're like runners who keep getting left behind in a race, never reaching the goal.

Discussion Questions:

1. Why did God give the law if it couldn't save anyone?
2. How does the law function like a mirror—showing us our condition but unable to change it?
3. What does "fall short of the glory of God" mean practically in your life?
4. Why is it dangerous to compare your sin to someone else's and think you're "not as bad"?

Truth Bomb:

"Some of us are gonna do this in the courtroom of God. We're gonna say, 'Now God, before we get into the sentencing, let me just suggest to You, my sins aren't as bad as such-and-such.' But do you know some people actually think like that today? 'I didn't do what he did.' And God is like, 'Did you not hear Paul? All of you have sinned.'"

Application:

Stop comparing yourself to others. The ground is level at the foot of the cross. Confess that you are a sinner in need of God's grace, not someone who's "better than most."

Reality #2: God Offers Righteousness Apart From Law

Key Scripture: Romans 3:21-22

"But now apart from the Law the righteousness of God has been manifested, being witnessed by the Law and the Prophets, even the righteousness of God which is through faith in Jesus Christ for all those who believe; for there is no distinction."

Main Points:

- God's righteousness is now revealed apart from the law
- The law and prophets testified that this day would come
- This righteousness comes through faith (pistis)—the vehicle by which God gives righteousness
- Faith is not just believing something is true; it's acting upon what God says
- This righteousness is offered to all who believe—no distinction between Jew and Gentile

Key Teaching:

"The righteousness of God has been manifested. The word manifested is in the perfect tense, which means it has been manifested at an appointed time, and it's still being manifested even right now."

"Faith is not simply believing that what God offers is true. Faith says, I will act upon what God says is true. The reason I know you believe that is because every one of us stood this morning and sat in a pew, trusting that the pew would hold you up. That's faith. You believe the pew will hold you, but your faith says, 'I'm going to trust this thing to hold me up when I sit down.' That's the kind of faith Paul is talking about."

Faith as the Vehicle:

The Greek word for faith (pistis/dia) means "through" or "by means of." Faith is the means, the vehicle by which God appropriates righteousness to our account. It's not just intellectual agreement—it's trusting obedience that acts on what God says.

Example: You sat in a chair this morning because you believed it would hold you. Your faith wasn't just thinking "that chair looks sturdy"—your faith was demonstrated when you actually sat down. That's saving faith: trusting Jesus enough to do what He says.

The Silencing of Self-Righteousness:

The law silences all self-righteous boasting. You can't boast in keeping the law because you can't keep it. You can't boast in being better than others because all are guilty. The law cancels anyone's ability to be boastful.

Discussion Questions:

1. What's the difference between believing Jesus is the Son of God and having faith in Jesus?

2. How is faith demonstrated in our lives beyond mental agreement?
3. Why is it significant that God's righteousness is offered "apart from the law"?
4. How does understanding this free us from trying to earn our salvation?

Truth Bomb:

"What God demands of the sinner, He supplies through the Savior. If that wasn't true, then it would make God unjust. Because now God is asking me to do something for myself and He knows I can't do it for myself. He knows I can't keep the law. He knows the law doesn't justify me. Therefore, what you need is to put trusting faith in Him."

Application:

Examine your faith: Is it merely intellectual belief, or is it trusting obedience? Are you acting on what God says, or just agreeing with it mentally? True faith expresses itself in obedience—including baptism for the forgiveness of sins.

Reality #3: God Justifies Us Freely as a Gift

Key Scripture: Romans 3:23-24

"For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, being justified as a gift by His grace through the redemption which is in Christ Jesus."

Main Points:

- All have sinned (continuously) and are falling short (present tense)
- Being justified = being declared righteous/innocent even though guilty
- "As a gift" (dorean) = freely, without cause, without cost
- Justification happens through redemption in Christ Jesus
- This is pure grace—spontaneous generosity with no expectation of return

Key Teaching:

"He said, 'All of us have sinned, but guess what? You will be justified.' Those who are being justified are those who took the plea deal. Someone had to die in order to save you. And in order for you to take the plea deal, you had to come by faith to accept what Jesus offers at the cross. Therefore, by taking advantage of what He offers at the cross, guess what God does? He justifies—declares we are righteous. In other words, He expunges our sin, takes it away, and declares us innocent."

"When God declared Fred innocent, even though Fred was guilty, Fred did not have a real logical cause for God to give me justification. There wasn't anything Fred could offer God that would cause God or approve God to justify Fred. So the giving of the gift is all because of the heart of God."

Justification Defined:

To justify means to declare righteous, to treat as though one had never sinned, to expunge the record. God doesn't just cover our sin—He declares us innocent, removes the charges, and treats us as righteous.

The Gift Without Cause:

The word "freely" (dorean) means without cause, without reason. We gave God no reason to justify us. We didn't earn it, deserve it, or make God obligated to save us. It's pure grace—spontaneous, generous love with no strings attached.

Connection to John 15:25: Jesus said, "They hated Me without a cause." Same Greek word (dorean). The world gave Jesus no reason to die for them. They hated Him without cause. Yet He went to the cross without cause—meaning humanity didn't give Him a reason why He should love us, extend grace, or show favor. He did it all because of His love.

Covenant vs. Contract:

This isn't a contract where "I do for you if you do for me." This is a covenant—God loves you without cause. Even when you don't deserve it, He blesses you. Even when you don't love Him back, He loves you.

Discussion Questions:

1. What does it mean to be justified "freely" or "without cause"?
2. How does understanding justification as a gift affect the way you approach God?
3. Why do we struggle to accept something we didn't earn?
4. How should receiving this free gift change the way we treat others?

Truth Bomb:

"When you look at your relationship with Christ, you are not in a contract with Him. You're in a covenant. Your contract says, 'Do for me, I do for you. And if you don't do your part, I ain't gonna do mine.' That's how some of us handle our marriages... But a covenant says, 'I'm going to love you without cause.'"

Application:

Stop trying to earn God's favor or bargain with Him. Accept the gift He offers through Jesus. Respond with faith, repentance, and baptism—not to earn justification, but to receive it as a gift.

Reality #4: Jesus is the Propitiation for Our Sins

Key Scripture: Romans 3:25-26

"Whom God displayed publicly as a propitiation in His blood through faith. This was to demonstrate His righteousness, because in the forbearance of God He passed over the sins previously committed; for the demonstration, I say, of His righteousness at the present time, so that He would be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Christ Jesus."

Main Points:

- God publicly displayed Jesus as a propitiation (hilasterion—mercy seat)
- Propitiation means the satisfaction of God's wrath, the divine payment for sin
- Jesus' blood becomes the mercy covering for our sins
- This demonstrates God's righteousness—He's both just and justifier
- The cross satisfies divine justice while extending divine mercy

Key Teaching:

"He says, 'Jesus, in this plea deal, offered Himself as God's satisfaction.' God was satisfied to allow His Son to die for us, and the blood—watch this—the altar is the cross. The blood spilled on it is the blood of mercy. So literally, He said to us, Jesus becomes God's place of mercy."

"When you get here into this court of law, you ain't asking God to give you what you deserve. What you're asking God is, 'God, I'm guilty, and I want You to have mercy on me.' That's it. 'I committed the crime, and God, I'm worthy of what You are destined to give me, but can I ask You to have mercy on me?'"

The Mercy Seat Connection:

In the Old Testament, the high priest would enter the Holy of Holies once a year on the Day of Atonement. He would sprinkle blood on the mercy seat (the covering of the Ark of the Covenant), and the shekinah glory of God would descend, signifying God accepted the sacrifice and would maintain relationship with His people.

Jesus becomes that mercy seat. The cross is the altar. His blood is sprinkled. And now, when we come to God, we're covered by mercy.

God is Just AND Justifier:

This is the beauty of the cross: God doesn't compromise His justice (He punishes sin fully), yet He extends mercy (He justifies guilty people). How? By pouring out His wrath on Jesus instead of on us. Jesus satisfies divine justice, and we receive divine mercy.

The Power of Jesus' Blood:

Look at Hebrews 9:11-15. Jesus entered the heavenly holy place "once for all time" with His own blood, securing eternal redemption. His blood is so powerful, so rich, so far-reaching that it not only covers our sins today—it reaches back to cover Old Testament saints who lived by faith.

Hebrews 9:15: "For this reason He is the mediator of a new covenant, so that, since a death has taken place for the redemption of the transgressions that were committed under the first covenant, those who have been called may receive the promise of the eternal inheritance."

Discussion Questions:

1. What does it mean that Jesus is our "propitiation"?
2. How does the cross demonstrate both God's justice and His mercy?
3. Why is it significant that Jesus' blood covers sins from both the Old and New Covenants?
4. How should we respond when we realize what Jesus' blood accomplished?

Truth Bomb:

"Jesus' blood is so rich, it's so powerful, it's so far-reaching that it can reach back to grab them from the old covenant and pick up those under this new covenant. One time for all time. If His blood can clean those who lived by faith under the law, His blood can clean us."

Application:

Come to Jesus with a clear conscience, knowing His blood has the power to cleanse you completely. Don't carry guilt God has already removed. Accept the mercy He offers at the cross.

Practical Application: Take the Plea Deal

The Courtroom Scene Resolved

You're standing in God's courtroom. The charges have been read. You're guilty—no question. But then your lawyer stands up. His name is Jesus Christ the Righteous. He's already paid the penalty for your crimes. The blood has been spilled. The sacrifice has been made. Divine justice has been satisfied.

Now God the Judge looks at you and says, "Do you accept this legal representation? Will you take the plea deal?"

What Taking the Plea Deal Means:

1. Acknowledge Your Guilt:

- Stop comparing yourself to others
- Stop making excuses or justifications
- Confess that you are a sinner in need of grace
- Admit you cannot save yourself

2. Accept Jesus as Your Legal Representation:

- Believe that Jesus is the Son of God
- Trust that His blood is sufficient to cover your sins
- Acknowledge that He is the only way to be justified before God
- Receive Him as Lord and Savior

3. Express Your Faith in Obedience:

- Repent of your sins (turn away from them)
- Be baptized for the forgiveness of your sins (Acts 2:38)
- Receive the gift of the Holy Spirit
- Walk in newness of life (Romans 6:4)

4. Live in the Freedom of Justification:

- Stop carrying guilt God has removed
- Live with a clear conscience purified by Jesus' blood
- Don't try to earn what's already been given as a gift
- Walk in covenant relationship with God

The Two Thieves on the Cross:

Remember the story: Jesus was crucified between two criminals. One mocked Him, demanding He prove Himself by coming down from the cross. But the other thief recognized his guilt and Jesus' innocence:

"We are receiving what we deserve for our deeds; but this man has done nothing wrong... Jesus, remember me when You come in Your kingdom!"

That's the attitude we should have. Not "God, I'm not as bad as so-and-so." But "God, I'm guilty. I'm deserving of whatever punishment You'd give me. But can I ask You—will You have mercy on me?"

Four Things to Stop Doing:

1. Stop Defending Yourself:

- God knows everything—there's no hiding, no excusing
- The evidence is overwhelming; pleading not guilty is futile
- Humble yourself and confess your need

2. Stop Comparing Yourself to Others:

- The ground is level at the foot of the cross
- Everyone needs the same grace, the same mercy, the same Savior
- Your sin may look different, but it's still sin that separates you from God

3. Stop Trying to Bargain:

- You have nothing to offer God that would obligate Him to save you
- Justification is a gift without cause—you can't earn it or negotiate it
- Simply receive what God offers through Jesus

4. Stop Carrying Guilt God Has Removed:

- If you've accepted Jesus, your record is expunged
- God treats you as though you never sinned
- Walk in the freedom of a purified conscience

Four Things to Start Doing:

1. Start Accepting Mercy:

- Come to God with empty hands, ready to receive
- Trust that Jesus' blood is powerful enough to cover all your sins
- Believe God when He says you're justified

2. Start Walking in Newness of Life:

- You've been declared innocent—live like it
- Don't go back to the old life that led to condemnation
- Let your justification lead to transformation

3. Start Extending the Same Grace:

- If God justified you without cause, extend grace to others without cause
- Don't hold people's pasts against them when God has forgotten them
- Be merciful as your Father is merciful

4. Start Thanking God for the Cross:

- Never take for granted what Jesus did
- Let gratitude fuel your obedience and worship
- Remember: you were guilty, but God made a way

For the One Who Hasn't Taken the Plea Deal

If you've never responded to the gospel—if you've never believed in Jesus, repented of your sins, and been baptized for the forgiveness of sins—today is the day to take the plea deal.

Here's what God is offering:

- Legal representation through Jesus Christ
- Justification—being declared innocent even though you're guilty
- Redemption—being brought back into relationship with God
- A purified conscience—freedom from guilt and shame
- Eternal life—a promise of inheritance in God's kingdom

Here's what it costs you:

- Nothing. It's a gift without cause.
- But it requires faith—trusting Jesus enough to obey Him

Here's how you respond:

1. Believe that Jesus is the Son of God, crucified for your sins and raised for your justification
2. Repent—turn away from your sins and turn toward God
3. Be baptized—immersed in water for the forgiveness of your sins (Acts 2:38, Romans 6:3-4)
4. Receive the Holy Spirit and walk in newness of life

For the Christian Who Needs Restoration

Maybe you've already taken the plea deal, but you've walked away from it. You've gone back to the old life. You're carrying guilt you shouldn't be carrying.

Good news: The blood of Jesus is still powerful. His intercession for you before the Father is ongoing. Come back. Confess your sins. Let God restore you (1 John 1:9, 2:1-2).

Group Discussion & Reflection

Discussion Questions:

1. What stood out to you most about the courtroom analogy? How does it help you understand sin, judgment, and grace?

2. How does understanding that justification is "without cause" change your relationship with God?
3. Why do you think people struggle to accept God's free gift of justification? What keeps us trying to earn it?
4. How should we respond when we realize the power of Jesus' blood—that it covers past, present, and future sins?
5. What does it look like practically to "take the plea deal" in your daily life?

Personal Reflection:

- Have you taken the plea deal? If not, what's holding you back?
- Are you living in the freedom of justification, or are you still carrying guilt God has removed?
- How can you extend the same "without cause" grace to others that God extended to you?

Closing Prayer

Father, we stand in awe of Your justice and Your mercy. We confess that we are guilty—all of us have sinned and fall short of Your glory. Thank You for not leaving us in our guilt, but for offering us the ultimate plea deal through Jesus Christ. Thank You that what You demand of sinners, You supply through the Savior. Thank You that Jesus became our propitiation, satisfying Your wrath so we could receive Your mercy. Help us to take the plea deal—to trust You enough to obey, to be baptized for the forgiveness of our sins, and to walk in the newness of life You offer. For those here who need restoration, draw them back with Your unfailing love. May we never take the cross for granted, but live every day in gratitude for the gift of justification. In Jesus' name, Amen.
